Music and Tea in Barber Shop Latest

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Oct. 3.—A barber shop and hair-bobbing parlor de luxe, where tea and cake are served daily with music from four to six p. m., have been opened in the old Hotel Knickerbocker on the site where many men well-known along the Great White Way were wont to foregather, put one foot on the rail, gaze at a famous picture of old King Cole and do things now forbidden by an amendment to the constitution and legislation supplementary thereto.
As another mark of progress a publication in pink specializing in photographs of actresses and boxers has no place in this barber shop. It has given way to the highest class of magazines. Caruso used to live in the hotel. Since prohibition it has been turned into stores and offices.

BENSON NEW SECRETARY

Dublin, Oct. 3.—Credit for initiating the negotiations for peace between the Irish republican leaders and the British government is generally given by the majority of Irishmen to A. W. Cope. Mr. Cope is Assistant Under-Secretary and clerk of the Privy Council in the office of the Chief Secretary for Ireland in Dublin castle. He came here from the English customs service.
It is not often that an Irish Nationalist or Republican can be found who will trust an English official but Mr. Cope is the exception. The Republicans trust him as can be seen by the way they dealt with him in carrying out the terms of the truce, while the Nationalists, and there are still many of these despite the elimination of their party by Sinn Fein, looked upon him as the deliverer of Ireland.

Incidentally, Mr. Cope's popularity in Ireland just now has contributed to the circulation of a strong tip that a horse named "Cope," after him, is likely to win the English Derby in 1923. Many Irishmen are preparing to put their money on the yearling which is owned by Martin Fitzgerald proprietor of Freeman's Journal and a well known figure in the business and sporting world. Irishmen seem to put quite as much faith in the name of Cope as in the horse itself.

INDIANA PLANS A VICTORY WHEN SHE TACKLES HARVARD

Special to the News
New York, Oct. 2.—The first inter-sectional football game of importance in the east this season will be played at Cambridge, Mass., next Saturday when Harvard meets the Indiana University eleven, making its eastern debut. The success of the inter-sectional struggle between Harvard and Centre college (Ky) last season prompted the Crimson committee to place Indiana on its 1921 schedule. Harvard will meet the University of Georgia team Saturday, October 15 and two weeks later will be pitted against Centre.

Spurred by the realization that the Hoosier team has its first chance to break into the limelight of Eastern football, Coach Ewald Stiehni, is bending to the task of whipping his gridmen into shape. And so out at Bloomington, Indiana, the home of the Indiana eleven, he is daily sending his charges through the hardest sort of a training program.

Stiehni has been handicapped by the Western Conference rule prohibiting a coach from taking charge of his team until September 15, and has not been able to give his men the sort of work needed to perfect a machine to give Harvard an even battle. He hopes to overcome this handicap, however, and his men are giving him the best of cooperation, according to reports from Bloomington. The Indiana coach has nearly all of last year's varsity players and the work of the new men has been good.

The Hoosier eleven threw away its chances of a tie for the Western Conference leadership last season by losing its first game of the season to Iowa 14 to 7 fumbling at a critical moment. After that disaster, the Hoosiers took three Big Ten eleven into camp and held Notre Dame to a 12-10 score.

Indiana's greatest triumph against Eastern football methods came two years ago when they defeated the Syracuse university eleven at Bloomington 12 to 6.

NORWEGIANS PLAN BIG CELEBRATION OF IMMIGRATIONS

(By Associated Press)
New York, Oct. 3.—Elaborate preparations are underway for a centennial celebration in 1925 in commemoration of the beginning of the tide of modern immigration to the United States from Norway, the Foreign Language Information Service announced today.

The principal celebration will be held in Minneapolis but there will also be demonstrations in a number of other cities including New York and Chicago.

Kleng Peersen is generally recognized as the father of modern immigration from Norway, said the Information Service announcement. He visited the United States in 1821 for the purpose of finding a suitable place of settlement in the new world for a group of Quakers who desired to leave Norway in order to escape religious intolerance. This group, 52 in all, set sail in a small sloop, the Restauration, from Stavanger, Norway, July 4, 1925 and arrived in New York 14 weeks later after a circuitous and stormy voyage, the vessel having touched at Madeira and sailed to New York by the way of the West Indies.

"The arrival of the Restauration," added the statement, "was the beginning of the great exodus from Norway as well as from the other Scandinavian countries in the 19th century. A model of the Restauration will form an interesting historical part of the centennial festivities. As a background will be shown Leif Erikson's discovery of America in the year of 1000, Thorvald Karlson's first attempt to found a settlement in the new world several centuries before Columbus arrived in the West Indies, Norwegian settlers in New Amsterdam among the Dutch colonists in 1630-1674, the first gaviation of the Northwest passage and the first circumnavigation of the North American continent by Captain Amundsen and many other facts of interest to all Americans."
